

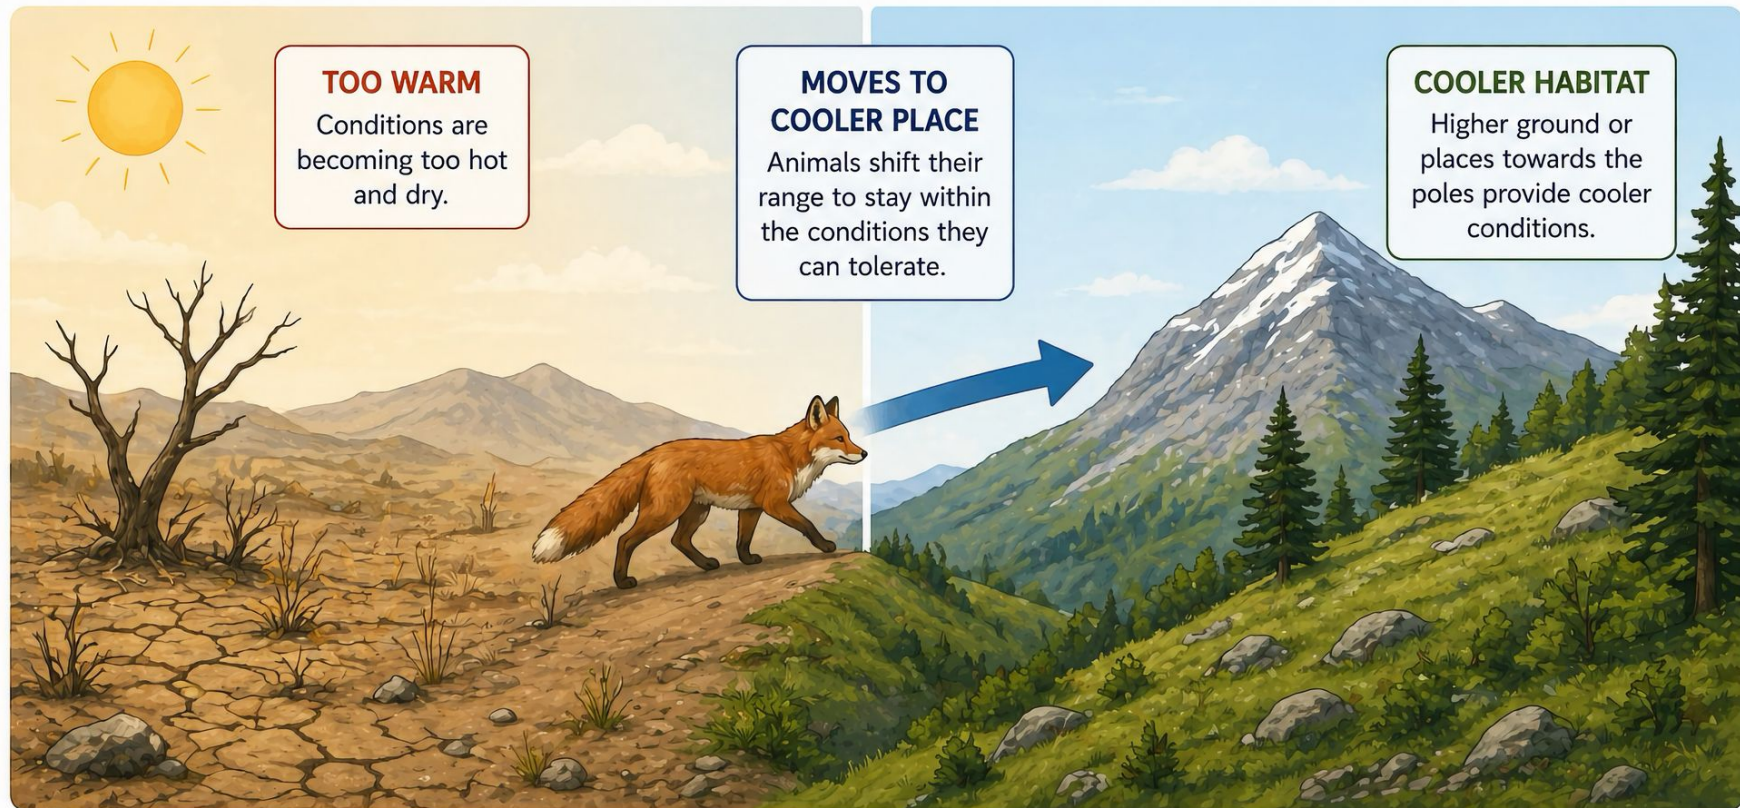

Illustration 11.3 - Moving habitat

Illustration 11.3 – Moving Habitat

As temperatures rise, some species move to cooler places.

As temperatures rise, many species move towards cooler places – towards the poles or higher uphill – to find the climate and habitats they need to survive.